The next meeting Nourish for Caregivers is on Wednesday, Jul. 16 at 1:30pm in the church narthex of Epiphany of Our Lord Church. The topic of discussion will be Staying Engaged - Keeping Them Engaged.

From Father:

One of the great temptations in the spiritual life is to make holiness seem distant—something meant for saints in stained glass or for the exceptional few who do great things for God. But this Sunday's readings speak against that idea. They remind us that God's Word is not beyond our reach or reserved for the spiritually elite. Rather, the Lord speaks to each of us in the quiet places of our own hearts, calling us not to dramatic gestures but to faithful love—right here, right now.

In our first reading, Moses tells the people that God's law is not "mysterious and remote," but something "very near to you, already in your mouths and in your hearts." This is a gentle, yet powerful, reminder: the path to holiness is not hidden. It is found in the ordinary rhythms of our lives—in how we speak, how we treat others, how we respond to the needs around us. The Word is close at hand. The only question is whether we will listen and act.

St. Paul, writing to the Colossians, lifts our eyes to Christ, the one in whom "all things hold together." He is the visible image of the invisible God, the source and goal of all creation. And yet Christ is also the one who took flesh, who walked among us, and who now dwells in us through grace. If we want to know what God looks like, we look to Jesus. If we want to know how to live, we look to how He lived.

That brings us to the familiar but always challenging parable of the Good Samaritan. A scholar of the law asks Jesus, "Who is my neighbor?"—seeking, perhaps, a theological definition. But Jesus responds not with theory but with a story. A man is left beaten by the side of the road. Religious leaders pass by. Only a foreigner, a Samaritan, stops and acts with mercy. He binds the wounds, carries the man to shelter, pays for his care, and promises to return. Jesus ends the parable not with explanation but with command: "Go and do likewise."

The message is clear. Our neighbor is not just the person who shares our background, our beliefs, or our values. Our neighbor is the person in front of us—especially the wounded, the forgotten, the inconvenient. The one we are tempted to pass by. Jesus invites us not simply to feel compassion, but to move toward the other with concrete love. Not just to know the law, but to live it.

This week, take a moment to ask: Who is lying on the roadside of my life? Who might God be placing in my path today? And am I willing to stop, to see, to love?

Holiness is not far away. It is near—on your lips, in your heart, and on the road you walk each day. Let us, then, go and do likewise.

Oremus pro invicem,
Father O'Donald
